Question and Answers to NNJ07136790R, Solicitation 1

11. Q: The link for the four active Task Orders that are posted on the procurement website will not work. Can you project when this will be available?

A: The link for all current Task Orders on the website is now working.

12. Q: Is there any more detail, other than the solicitation, about what type of work this procurement will entail?

A: Please check the Technical Reference Library (TRL), current Statement of Work, and current Task Orders at <http://procurement.jsc.nasa.gov/iass/> to find more information in regards to the current work.

13. Q: By responding by e-mail to the Contract Specialist, will that satisfy the requirement of a prospective offeror's intent to bid?

A: Yes.

14. Q: What are some 8(a) firms in the Houston area?

A: You may do a search at the Small Business Administration (SBA) website, http://dsbs.sba.gov/dsbs/search/dsp\_dsbs.cfm, this will help locate 8(a) firms in the Houston area.

15. Q: Is there anyone interested in teaming with a small software intensive product consulting and developing firm?

A: The Government cannot provide a direct answer to the stated question but you may check for companies that choose to include themselves on the Interested Parties list on the IASS website.

16. Q: What is the reason this has been issued as an 8(a) set-aside?

A: The previous procurement was successfully awarded and performed as an 8(a) set-aside and the Government's market research identified that there are 8(a) companies available to perform this procurement. Therefore, it was determined that the follow-on would be an 8(a) set-aside also.

17. Q: The JSC Quality Manual is identified on this website. However, when you click on it you receive the notice Access Forbidden. Will access be allowed?

A: The document has been converted to a word document and can now be opened by anyone who has received a password and user-id to gain access to the TRL from the Contract Specialist or Contracting Officer.

18. Q: If a company did not notify the NASA procurement office of their intent to bid in regards to the synopsis, will they be precluded from submitting a bid for the solicitation?

A: No.
